The Downfall of the Mighty

The International Sunday-School Lesson for July 22 is "Sennacherib's Invasion of Judah."—II Kings 18:13 to 19:37. By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

The crash of the towering citadels of corruption, commercial and political, fills the land. Everybody is standing amazed. The most sanguine reformers scarcely expected such a swift and mighty overthrow of the strongholds of graft; and the corruptionists themselves had thought their power invincibly entrenched and fortified.

If we may reverently speak of the humor of the Almighty, it does appear as if He delights in letting the arrogant powers that exalt themselves insolently against Him and His laws, go to the very limit of their boasted self-confidence and self-assurance, before He lets loose the visitation of His overwhelming justice upon them. Lovers of righteousness, who have not the patience of God, cry out, "how long, O Lord, how long!" But God's day is marching on. It is as inevitable as the sunrise. In the meantime, though, the proud, wicked, reeking in oppression, injustice and crime, vaunt themselves to the very heavens, so that they might dazzle even those who should know the certainty of God's reckoning. This but makes more impressive and effectual the overthrow when it does come.

As It Was of Old

This lesson of the defeat of the mighty Assyrian hosts by the God of the little Judah—tremendous, significant and spectacular, as it was—parallels the victories which righteousness is winning in this year of our Lord 1917 over the long dominant powers of selfishness and evil. That teacher is blind to the march of events and to the eternal timeliness of truth who treats this lesson solely as a historical event in the seventh century B. C. and attempts to lead the ordinary Sunday School class through the jungle of ancient dates and dynasties and geographical data.

The situation may be simply stated. Hezekiah, the good son of a bad father, but of the very limits of the King of Judah, Israel, to the north, had become so godless and dissolute that Jehovah had wiped it out as a nation, and its people into a captivity from which they never returned. The dominant world power of the day was Assyria, whose king was Sennacherib, the approach of whose conquest the latter had laid waste the surrounding countries and even the outlying portions of Judah. We have Sennacherib's own version of the story, so, after many centuries, does the earth give up of its buried treasures to confirm the word of God—on clay cylinders that never will may see the British museum, and on the sides of the Kouyunjik bulls. He diplomatically evades, after the manner of boasters, those phases of occurrence which do not reflect credit upon himself; but the substantial unity of his record with that of the Old Testament is convincing.

Only Jerusalem, newly fortified and prepared for a siege, withstood the victorious king. The story has his familiar poem beginning: "The Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold; And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold."

Caught in a Corner.
The situation was tense and dramatic. Diplomacy was tried and it failed. Tribute was offered, but it did not appease. Political alliances proved a broken reed to lean upon. Vain was the help of man. Judah was caught in a corner.

The hungry Assyrian suffering but dauntless patriots within Jerusalem's walls were put in a plight to break the nerve of the bravest. Forty-six of the fortified cities of Judah were fallen beneath the Assyrian's steady on-march. George Adams Smith thus vividly pictures the situation of the beleaguered "Signs of the Assyrian's advance were given in the sky and night after night the watchers on Mt. Zion, seeing the glare in the west, must have speculated which of the cities of Judah was being burned. Clouds of smoke across the heavens, from prairie and forest fires, told how even if it passed would leave a trail of famine; and men thought with breaking hearts of the villages and fields, heritage of the tribes of old that were now bare to the foot and the fire of the foreigner. Then came the touch of the enemy, the appearance of armed bands, the descent of Jerusalem's favorite valleys, of chariots, squadrons of horsemen emerging from the plateau north and west of the city, heavy siege towers and swarms of men doing battle against the Lord of Hosts."

So the Almighty, who would not be Himself if He could suffer defeat, sent His angel, the angel of His wrath, to smite the host. "Angel" means simply messenger; even the devil often has to run the Lord's errands. What the angel did was to completely overwhelm the Assyrian host, whether a plague or a storm or another army, matters little; it was the manner of the punishment, or of small concern. The Lord took care of His own and vindicated His Lordship. Because it is plain the even if the least of God's creatures fall out of His protecting and sustaining hand, He would no longer be true to Him were allowed to God.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, July 20.—Dispatches to Dun's Review from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co. in the principal cities of the Dominion of Canada report no particular change in the condition of the market, but centres being about normal for this period, in spite of the prevailing scarcity of business, a large volume of trade is being done in the custom-made summer clothing. It is stated to be slightly more pronounced than looked for, and is attributed to past and present weather conditions, but in the aggregate the volume of business is not so large as in the past. Gross earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting to date for two weeks in July show an increase of 64 per cent as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

Commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada this week numbered 18, as against 17 last week and 23 the same week last year.

BEAVERS HAVE OUTING.

For the great majority of those who live in cities life in the open air has irresistible charms. This is especially true in the case of the young. To get away for a short time from the bustle and noise of city life seems to be the desire of every normal boy.

In this respect the Beavers of the Highland Park Presbyterian church are very much like other boys. They returned just a few days ago from their camp which was ideally located some three miles north east of the city. It was a most successful one, benefited greatly by the outing. E. A. Walker who has always very willingly assisted the boys in any enterprise of theirs, had arranged for a very kindly supplied a team and wagon for the conveyance of tents, bedding, and cooking utensils. The time passed very pleasantly for the boys, and they were very much like other boys. They were very much like other boys. They were very much like other boys.

THE BOY WHO DIDN'T PASS.
A sad-faced little fellow sits alone in deep disgrace. There's a lump arising in his throat and tears stream down his face. He wandered from his playmates, for he doesn't want to hear their shouts of merry laughter since he has failed to win the cup of honor. He has slipped the cup of sorrow, he has drained the bitter glass, and his heart is fairly breaking; he's the boy who didn't pass.

In the apple tree the robin sings a cheery little song. But he doesn't seem to hear it, showing plainly something's wrong! Come, he's for the cup of sorrow, for he's the boy who didn't pass.

And alone he sits in sorrow, with his hair a tangled mass of despair. And his eyes are red with weeping; he's the boy who didn't pass.

Oh, you who boast a laughing son and speak of him as bright, And you who love a little girl who comes to you tonight With smiling eyes and dancing feet, Turn to that lonely boy who thinks he is a fool, And take him kindly by the hand, the dullest in the class; He is the one who needs most love—the boy who didn't pass.

FRATERNAL

Lodge Strathcona, S.O.E.B.S. held their usual meeting on Thursday. Business was conducted as usual. At the close Past President H. C. Cable was called upon to present to Bro. J. Horvath, (who has held the office of financial secretary for the past five years) a past president's jewel. Bro. Cable in making the presentation, alluded to the work done for the benefit of the order by the secretary and said it was one of his pleasantest experiences to present this jewel to one who had done so much for the lodge. When the present secretary took office the membership was 100 strong, whereas now it is 185. Of these 85 of the members had made their services for the honor of their country. Eight of them have paid the supreme sacrifice and seven have returned.

SYLVAN LAKE CAMP

Twelve boys in all from Edmonton attended the summer school camp at Sylvan Lake, Alberta, last week. They were from the churches of the principal towns of the province were in attendance. The tents were pitched on the bank of the lake about four miles from the station. The weather was ideal throughout the time of the camp, and splendid opportunities for bathing, boating, and fishing were thus afforded. Short talks were given regularly by different speakers on the subjects of study indicated in the Standard Efficiency Tests program. Besides a baseball league in which teams from the different centres participated a couple of afternoon were spent in running the physical tests provided for in the program. All the boys present were chartered at the camp, nearly all of whom secured one or more of the prizes offered for organization. Numerous expressions of reluctance at leaving the camp were expressed on the morning of the departure, and all signified their determination to be present next year, if at all possible. It is hoped that this will be made an annual affair and no better or more central situation could be secured than that occupied by the boys this summer.

JOSEPH'S (R. C. Baptist).
Our teacher is going away for a few weeks' holidays but this is no reason why the boys should not keep on coming as we can easily provide a substitute. We are also expecting some new recruits in the near future. It is with the greatest regret that we find it necessary to announce to the public our unwilling disbandment for the long summer months. We expect, however, to assemble again when the hot weather has passed, under the same name and governed by the same old standards.

Eczema on Hands

ECZEMA is usually aggravated by the application of water, and more particularly in the fall and winter, when the water is cold, many suffer keenly from itching, stinging eczema on the hands.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven itself the most effective treatment obtainable for eczema, and on this account has enormous sales. It affords relief from the itching and burning almost as soon as applied, and with persistent use heals and cures.

Mrs. W. G. Dowden, Greenpond, Bonaville Bay, Nfld., writes: "I suffered with eczema on my hands, and for eighteen months was so bad that I could not use a needle to sew or do anything. I could scarcely dress myself. Though I had lots of salves from doctors, I could never get much benefit from them. Then I sent for a sample of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found it very different in action. It was not long before my hands began to heal, and four 60c boxes made them well. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment too highly, and frequently give some to others to get them using it, for I know that it will cure."

Were There Too Many Passes? Manager Stark Explains System

Figures Given in Daily Returns Under Heading "Passes" Represented All Free Admissions of Every Kind, Such as Attendants, Employees, and Performers—Some Were Used Number of Times Daily.

Speaking to the Bulletin this morning, Manager Stark of the Edmonton Exhibition said that he had been asked by a number of persons since the fair why the attendance figures published in the Bulletin showed such a large number of passes having been issued.

"These passes," said Mr. Stark, "represented the total number of statistical checks for all coming in each day who did not buy an admission ticket at the gate."

He went on to explain that this included tickets issued to Exhibition employees, holders of space in the manufacturers' building, restaurants and other concessionaires, also the Midway, for their employees; those used by the performers in front of the grand stand, including the bands and the boys taking part in the "Sons of the Empire." It also includes the tickets used by the exhibitors and their attendants, including the live stock and sundry departments, the dog show, the race department, drivers, jockeys, grooms, owners.

A number of weekly tickets were sold, including vehicle tickets, and those bought by holders of space who require more than the allotted number of free tickets. All these tickets were included in the daily number of "passes" as well as those held by the directors and associate directors, members of the city, members of the legislature, the press, returned soldiers, telephone, telegraph, electric light, railway, fire, police, and other departments which constantly had a staff employed on the grounds. In many cases the holders of the tickets used them a number of times each day, signing a statistical slip for each admission, which of course was counted in the total under the statistical system adopted this year.

WEARING D.C.M. EDMONTON BOY IS BACK IN CITY

Pte. "Dad" Stevens Who Went Overseas With 51st Batt., Home On Furlough

Wearing on his breast the Distinguished Conduct Medal which he had received for meritorious service at the front, C. J. Stevens, known to his friends as "Dad," now a member of the 15th Highland Battalion, reached the city Friday morning on a furlough of three months.

Since leaving Edmonton with the 51st Battalion in April of 1916, Pte. Stevens has had a hard experience. He bears four wounds, the most severe of which was inflicted by a shrapnel bullet in the breast which punctured his lungs and led to his being invalided home on furlough.

He won his decoration by carrying despatches from the front line of trenches to headquarters and by capturing a number of German prisoners. The medal was pinned on his breast by General Turner, V.C., while in the Harborne Hall hospital, Birmingham, England, undergoing treatment. At the same time five other Canadians were decorated.

Before enlisting Pte. Stevens was employed as a printer in the Bulletin and other Edmonton offices. He has a homestead west of the city and will spend some time recuperating with his wife and family before returning to the front in the fall.

PRIZES GIVEN TO GARDENS OF SOLDIERS

Occasion Marked By Speech-making And A Program Of Sports.

One simply runs out of adjectives in trying to describe the garden plots which have been cultivated by returned soldiers in connection with the vocational training school at the convalescent home and which were judged yesterday. Five acres of brush land, which first saw the plough this spring, has been divided up into 40,000 foot plots and by the hand of the convalescent home, intelligently directed by Superintendent James Baxter, the wilderness has literally been made to blossom as the rose. The transformation borders on the miraculous. It is not merely a bit of journalistic exaggeration to say that there are no better gardens in Edmonton and it is doubtful whether, taking all considerations together, there are any as good.

Earth Smiled
Someone said of the soil of Kansas, years ago, that if you tilled it with a hoe it would laugh with a harvest. The hoe tilling job has been practically perfect and the soldiers' garden plots for the most part, with which good old mother earth is just illustrating her features is as jolly a grin as the imagination of man can conceive.

The visitors who were shown over the tract yesterday afternoon by the justifiably proud proprietors, went in to see to see what they saw. The plots had been raked and scraped with meticulous care and were so clean that you might have eaten your dinner off anyone of them. It seemed almost a profanation to set foot on the beautifully raked soil.

The ordered symmetry of the rows, the luxuriant abundance of the growing vegetables, the perfection and promise of the various sorts were a revelation. Here were sprouts of a dozen selected varieties, growing like young forests. Here was celery that would beat the famous product of Kalamazoo. Here was corn ready to show its ears, tomatoes as big as tangerine oranges, green peas whose very looks made your mouth water, masses of lettuce, rank on rank of onions, turnips, carrots, parsnips, all the old familiar. The whole thing was indeed an eye-opening as to the capacity of the soil and climate of Northern Alberta, even at the best of men admittedly ignorant of horticulture, to produce vegetables and garden "truck" which are simply unbeatable.

H. C. of L. Problem Solved
One felt that if a five-acre tract, only just reclaimed from the brush and cultivated by convalescent soldiers who a year ago only knew a potato from a turnip, could be made to produce so abundantly, what could not the thousands and thousands of acres, untouched by the plough, shrapnel and the high cost of living problem, that the food to feed the British Empire could be grown right here in the Edmonton district and, with proper devices for preservation and storage, be available for the millions overseas who needed it.

H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, was the judge and he had his work cut out for him to pick the winners. The soldiers thought that it lay between the gardens of Ptes. Mike Zarchovitch and R. H. Bishop, but Pte. James Ferguson, noted them out for first honors. Only one plot separated the three. Zarchovitch lost out because a few onions in a row were not ready again for the judges. Their mates and in Bishop's plot a couple of weeds which had insinuated themselves into his potato patch were his undoing. The roll call of the prize winners was as follows:

Garden Winners.
1st, $25, by Dr. J. C. Miller—Pte. J. Ferguson.
2nd, $20, by James Ramsay, Ltd.—Pte. Zarchovitch.
3rd, $15, by Canadian Newspapers, Ltd.—Pte. R. H. Bishop.
4th, $10, by Hudson's Bay Co.—Pte. A. Tucker.
5th, $5—Pte. R. Witherly.
6th, $3—Sergeant A. Arter.
7th, $3—Pte. C. Samuelson.
8th, $3—Pte. C. Walker.
9th, $2—Pte. George Young.
10th, $1—Pte. Geo. Pleau.
11th, $1—Pte. M. Lambert.
12th, $1—Pte. J. E. Johnson.
Neatest kept plot—Pte. Zarchovitch.
Best attendance at work—Pte. Ferguson.
Best crop of celery—Pte. Bishop.
Best potatoes—Pte. Zarchovitch.
Best cabbage and cauliflower—Pte. Zarchovitch.
Best corn—Sergeant Walker.
The Invalid Soldiers' Welfare League contributed $20 toward the prize money.

After the public inspection of the garden and a general photographing, a program of sports, of a rather strenuous nature, suited to the physical capacity of the soldiers in the home, was gone through with on the recreation field. There was a good attendance and a large number gave shelter from the glare of the sun while a refreshment tent performed its sustaining functions. His Honor, Lieut.-Gov. Brett, from the high eminence of a table, opened the sports. His honor also peeled off his coat and took part in the fat man's race, but never had a look in for the prize, which was carried off by Dr. C. Miller. This was a hard-fought race and the fall of Archie Simpson, prone upon the grass, was cataclysmic. The other events, too, were chock full of pep; the contest in which half a dozen men sucked the contents of bottles of two-per-cent through nursing nipples, some of competitors receiving involuntary baths of effervescent liquid in the endeavor, being particularly amusing as was also the pie-eating contest, in which the aspirants lay at full length on the sward, with their hands behind their backs and consumed their pie, from paper plates. It is a moot question whether chocolate or cherry filling makes the more effective complexion beautifier. The various contests resulted as follows:

The Contests.
50 Yards Race—1, Pte. Pleau; 2, Pte. Donahue; 3, Pte. Monroe.
Hopping Race—1, Pte. Packford; 2, Corp. Tuilly; 3, Pte. Bishop.
Throwing baseball—1, Pte. Nelson; 2, Corp. Oskenden; 3, Sgt. Roien.
Lieut. Carmichael had the longest throw, 95 yards, but withdrew.
Crutch race—1, Pte. H. Holloway; 2, Corp. Tuilly; 3, Capt. Wells.
Boys' race—1, Rowland Butchart; 2, Arthur Emory; 3, John Timothy.
Girls' race—1, Helen McBride; 2, Mary Cogswell; 3, Laura Bishop.
Egg-and-spoon race—1, Sgt. Roien; 2, Pte. Pleau; 3, Sgt. Cole.
Threading the needle—1, Pte. Samuelson and Miss McNaughton; 2, Pte.

300 GUESTS AT RECEPTION AT UNIVERSITY

Social Event Of Summer School Season—Attractive And Interesting Program.

The social event of the summer school season at the University of Alberta, which took place last night when the students were the hosts and entered the faculty of the University and their friends at a reception and dance. Upwards of three hundred guests were present.

The proceedings opened with a piano duet by Miss McKenzie and Calvin Chadsey, secretary of the Students' union.

J. T. Cuyler, president of the union, in a brief address then welcomed the visitors. He spoke of the happy relations existing between the students and their professors, relations which partook more of the spirit of fraternity and equality than of the usual formalities between teacher and taught.

Dr. J. J. Miller, director of technical education, who is the official head of the summer school, replied on behalf of the faculty, and expressed the sincere thanks of himself and the staff to the students for affording them the opportunity of meeting and enjoying themselves in social intercourse.

Music and readings were then contributed by several of the students and the glee club having rendered a choral selection this portion of the program concluded by singing "God Save the King."

Dancing followed and was continued till past midnight with a short interval for lunch. Lynch's orchestra participated in the dancing.

A very amusing program in the shape of a burlesque track meet was arranged for the entertainment of the non-dancers and was enthusiastically participated in by the large section of the students.

The company separated about 12.30 highly delighted with the night's event. A number of street cars were specially chartered to convey the visitors to their homes.

NURSE McADAMS SHOWS NEED FOR WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT

London, July 20.—(C.A.P.)—Catharine McAdams, formerly of Edmonton, now with the medicals at Orpington hospital, who was nominated as women's candidate for the Alberta legislature, interviewed by the Daily Express, said:

"You want women in parliament because they are less likely than men to forget all the sacrifices of humanity in the war and what it means. Women think in terms of human life, men in terms of money, and the government's great problem after the war will be social organization. The life of women must be made less rural in Canada; this is being done in part by the Alberta department of agriculture."

SAY CITY CARS NOT BEING USED FOR JOY-RIDING

Commissioners have been carrying out investigations in the latter departments following the letters published in the press in which allegations were made that city automobiles were being used for private joy-riding.

Answers have been received from different departments in response to the inquiries of the commissioners.

Superintendent Ormby of the Light and Power department, says that he can obtain no evidence that cars from his department have been used for such purposes. He emphasizes the point that if the person making the complaint would give the number or description of the car the charge could be brought right home.

The Street Superintendent, Supt. Dan Olton of the Streets and Scavenging Dept., states that the car should come out and give his name and state who was using the car and not hide behind a non-de-plume. Supt. Olton informs the commissioners that on Saturday afternoon he was at work on city business and being near home called in to have supper before taking the car back to the city garage. He then received a telephone call about a hole in the bridge at 82nd St. and having to inspect the spot, his wife accompanied him. The car being left at the city garage on return.

Acting Supt. Fawns of the Waterworks department says that he can find no evidence of any use of the kind.

Dr. Whitelaw, health officer, says that there are two privately owned cars in the department, for which allowances of $15 and $20 per month were made by the city for their use. Possibly some people might have the impression that private cars driven by city officials were city cars, and so the reply originated.

He far from the telephone department is concerned Supt. Lowry denies that anything of the kind does happen and he adds: "It does seem a pity that the negligence in this respect on one or two departments, that the balance of the departments should be subjected to the same criticism, as personally I know that the condition complained of does exist."

Used Own Motor
It might be added that during the present year, so far, Supt. Lowry has run 600 miles on his own automobile in transacting city business.

In discussing the matter, the Deputy Mayor, Alder J. M. MacDonald, said that he did not think that the press should publish such complaints, without first ascertaining the facts and making a definite charge being made.

City Hall Notes

A request has been made to the commissioners that 101st street, between 101st avenue and 102nd avenue, be closed to traffic on Friday, July 27th, in connection with the present time the road is in bad shape.

W. Barma, of Evanston, U.S.A., writing asking if the land anywhere in the Edmonton district suitable for sheep raising. He says that he has been told that there is a district called Peace River country, which is eminently suitable, but he can find no trace of the place on the map.

The commissioners have decided to continue to pay the rent of $150 per year for the privilege of using the street railway running over the lots at McKernan's Lake, belonging to L. T. Murray. Commissioner Harrison says that he has been asked to pay the rent, and the lots are assessed at $50, and it is cheaper for the city to pay rent than to acquire them at the present time.

The commissioners are asking an opinion of the city solicitor whether the assessment of the Fort trail can be legally changed by resolution of council whether other procedure must be taken.

A quantity of scrap iron at the car barn is to be disposed of.

As the city railway spur which the Alisp Brick Co. has laid to their plant is a permanent structure, the commissioners say that the company must either continue to pay rent for it or else pay to have it removed.

Instructions have been given that the city shall take possession of the plant, machinery and buildings of the cement and brick company at Beechmount, which was formed by L. W. Gimby and A. D. Murphy. The business was founded in 1915 when a long lease of city property at Beechmount was secured on condition that the company put up building and machinery worth $15,000 and employ 20 persons. If the two default on the condition, the city is to take possession and employ at least 12 persons for a period of three months, the buildings and machinery went to the city.

According to the city solicitor and comptroller, the city has now fulfilled all the conditions necessary to take over the property in default, and the company have accordingly given instructions for it to be done.

WOMAN RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE GETS GASH ON THE HEAD

Miss Witherow Knocked Down By Car Driven By Mrs. Russo.

Miss Witherow, of 818 10th street, was knocked down and run over last night, near the corner of Jasper avenue and 10th street, by an automobile driven by Mrs. Russo. The accident occurred at 6.30 o'clock. Miss Witherow, who was rendered unconscious and received a severe gash on the side of her head, recovered and was taken home. It is said that she is not seriously injured.

Police Constable R. Daly, who witnessed the affair, said that the car had turned out of Jasper and was proceeding up 10th street at a moderate rate of speed. In it, beside the driver, were two children and an old lady. He saw Miss Witherow standing in the path of the car, apparently dazed. The policeman says that Mrs. Russo began to scream when an accident seemed unavoidable, and took her hands from the steering wheel.

The victim was knocked down and one of the front wheels of the car ran lengthwise along her body, slipping from the shoulder. The police constable carried her to the sidewalk, and called in Dr. Dunn, who appeared and took her in charge. He restored her to consciousness and took her away.

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after slight exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anemia—the watery blood. Headache and backache frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present.

The remedy to this condition is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks, and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and good, plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health.

THE DAILY POEM

"RIVEVILLE"

Against the blazoned Eastern sky
The bugle call is sounding.
A day to live, a day to die,
A day with life abounding.
The quickened manhood in my veins
Drives out all thought of former pains.

At home, the prayers of child and wife
The love of maid and mother.
Out here the glory and the strife
And brother linked with brother;
Out here the hours so full and fleet,
And duty's cup, so bitter sweet.

O splendour of the rising sun
Across the dark earth pouring!
Above the roar of shell and gun.
My heart is madly soaring.
For every soldier good and true
Begins each day his life anew.

FOOD WASTE

In an article published by the Secretary of Agriculture for the United States in March, 1917, he stated that the estimated annual food waste in the United States per year was $700,000,000.00. Their manner of life is similar to ours, though we like to think that we, as a nation, have been more frugally trained. We have the same extravagant ideas about cooking a little more than is actually needed to feed being thought mean and close. When careful close reckoning in amounts is really only being honest to the one who provides for the family needs. I well remember, when a young woman once received the remark that a certain woman rarely cooked more than nine potatoes at a time, and that was a vegetable for the dinner and enough for a salad or to warm up. "Counting potatoes" she said, "who ever heard of the like? I cook a potful and the chickens get what is left."

Food waste may arise from improper care and handling or from wasteful methods of cooking. As an example of the latter, the waste of the edible portion of potatoes is lost in some methods of preparation and in boiling potatoes about one-fifth of the iron is lost, which is usually thrown away. From steaming or baking potatoes we have a smaller loss than from other methods of preparation, while the great loss of the edible portion of potatoes is lost in some methods of preparation and in boiling potatoes about one-fifth of the iron is lost, which is usually thrown away. Famous Women

The Marriage of Mrs. Horton
In October, 1771, the Duke of Cumberland, brother of George III married the Hon. Mrs. Horton. George III did not know of it until a month later when he was informed by letter from Calais. The king was furious and subsequently caused the passage of the Royal Marriage Act, designed to prevent similar alliances. Cumberland the year before had made himself disagreeably conspicuous by figuring as co-respondent in a divorce case in which the wife of Earl Grosvenor was the principal figure. It is said he married her only after having failed to win her on 'easier terms.' This Mrs. Horton should not be confused with Annabella Horton, who was the mistress of the Duke of Grafton.

Clarence—"Would you scream if I kissed you?"
Clara—"Do you flatter yourself that I would be speechless with joy?"

Why Bake in Hot Weather?

With temperature around the "hundred in the shade" mark, it is surely folly to add to your own discomfort by baking.

If you got better bread, there might be.

If you got a bit more purity or wholesomeness, there might be some justification for the discomfort of home baking. But there isn't.

Our bakery goods are pure, wholesome, economical. They are BETTER than you can bake at home. And you can have them without any discomfort or trouble.

Sidelights on the War

Belgium will today as far as is possible celebrate the eighty-seventh anniversary of her independence. This celebrating will, of course, be in sharp contrast to those of former years, but wherever throughout the world men and women of that heroic nation can, they will assemble for solemn commemoration. There are considerable colonies of Belgians at Cherbourg, Havre, the present seat of their government, and at Bordeaux. Services will be held at Havre which will be attended by the heroic King Albert and his cabinet, for there is still a Belgium, despite the fact that an enemy for the present occupies its soil. Albert will be found, as usual, among his soldiers whose constant companion and friend he has been since the dark days of 1914 when crushed by overwhelming numbers, he and his brave army had to seek refuge on the hospitable soil of France.

THE WOMEN'S EXCHANGE

In accordance with requests made by a number of readers, The Bulletin has decided to run the questions and answers the same days in future in this department instead of as at present giving the answers on the following day. The questions here in the Bulletin will be given the most careful attention.

What is a good suggestion for a luncheon dish for vegetarians?
To make a delicious dish for luncheon arrange one pint of boiled spinach on a platter, season with salt, pepper, butter and vinegar, and surround with one and a half cupsful creamed onions and then surround this in turn with two cupsful of thick stewed tomatoes. Garnish the whole with hard-boiled eggs.

Is there a recipe for gingerade?
Dissolve three pounds of granulated sugar in two gallons of water, then add the well-beaten whites of three eggs and two ounces of powdered ginger. It is better to moisten the ginger with a very little water before adding the whole. Place over the fire in an enameled saucepan, bring slowly to the boiling point, skim and stand aside to settle. When cold add the juice of one large lemon and one-quarter ounce of yeast, dissolved in two table-spoonsful warm water. Mix thoroughly, strain, fill the bottles, cork tightly and tie the corks in, then put at once in a cool place.

Please give a recipe for a cheap sponge cake.
Two well-beaten eggs, one cupful sugar, one cupful flour, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, well sifted with the flour, one teaspoonful salt, lemon or vanilla extract to taste. Stir together until smooth, then add one-half cupful boiling water in which one-half teaspoonful baking soda has been dissolved. Beat briskly, turn in to a greased pan and bake immediately in moderate oven.

What are the directions for cleaning a faded black silk dress?
The French process is to use a weak solution of coffee water. Restore the lustre by careful rubbing with a soft silk handkerchief and do not wet the silk too much.

How can jewelry be cleaned?
Most jewelry can be effectively cleaned by washing with soap and warm water, rinsing in cold water, dipping in spirits of any kind and drying in boxwood sawdust. Pearls require a special treatment, as do some other stones.

Can a flat sailor hat be cleaned the same way as a Panama?
I think you will find you have better results if you clean the hat as follows. If it is stiff: Dissolve one ten spoonful oxalic acid crystals in one cupful boiling water, and after brushing the hat thoroughly to remove all dust, lay it on a flat surface and scrub with this solution, using a small brush for the purpose. Work rapidly, beginning with the crown, rinse in cold water, wipe dry and place on flat cloth in the sun to dry. Do not let the hat become thoroughly saturated with the water.

Minister's Fee at Wedding.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—I am to be married shortly and have invited the minister who used to be at our church to perform the ceremony and our present rector to pronounce the benediction. Should my fiancé give a fee to both clergymen, or is it sufficient to make an offering to the one who performs the ceremony? Who is responsible for the expense of the organ and the sexton's fee?
M. A. R.

It is usual to give a fee to each of the clergymen who officiate at a wedding, especially as the one who is to pronounce the benediction is the rector of the church and is set aside, as it were, in favor of an old friend and bride's family. The organist and sexton at a wedding. The bridegroom is only responsible for the fee of clergymen, the ring and the bride's and bridesmaids' flowers.

Quandary of Sweet Sixteen.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—I am sixteen years old, five feet seven inches tall; rather stout, not fat, but my dressmaker says I am two inches above shoulders (low tops). Is that too short? Wear my hair down my back; most the girls do at my age, but not so big, though. Do you advise me to wear it up?
I met a young man about twenty-three, who teaches my Sunday school class. I like him very much. We are not well acquainted yet and once when I was left home he passed and asked me to get in his auto and go up with him. I had just left some girls. Was he showing kindness, for he could hardly have told that I had left my other friends, or do you think he cared for me was the reason he asked me to accompany him? He sings in the choir and I often notice how he looks at me. Does he care anything for me? How can I tell that he does? How can I promote our friendship without seeming to? He is a fine young man and we had a pleasant talk when I accepted his invitation to go with him. Do you advise me to urge on his friendship and is it a girl's place to speak first to a young man?

IMPATIENT.
You are old enough to wear your skirts to your shoulders, and if you are so large I should think this would be a more graceful length. Wearing the hair down is so becoming to most young girls I would advise you to continue to do so as long as you can.
My dear Miss Impatient, I am afraid you are exaggerating the very attentions the young man has paid you. He has only been courteous to one of his young pupils. You would be very foolish to imagine him in love with you, unless he gives you much more reason to believe so. Be pleasant to the young man, but not too effusive.
It is a girl's place to bow first to a man.

Letter to Man.
Dear Madam,—In writing to a man friend for the first time, which is the proper way to address him? "Dear Jack," "Dear friend Jack," or "My dear Jack"? (if you know the man well enough to call him by his first name) would be the correct form. "Dear Jack" is a little more familiar. Never use "friend" in a letter.

NO PANIC OCCURRED
HALIFAX, July 20.—William T. Humes, vice-president of the Remington Typewriter company, who was one of the passengers on the Norwegian-American liner Kristianiafjord, wrecked last Sunday near Cape Race, Nfld., arrived here yesterday from St. Johns. Mr. Humes says there was no panic when the ship struck.

Today We Celebrate

Died—A Famous Fat Man.
New Brunswick, England, on July 21, 1899, Daniel Lambert, at the advanced weight of 739 pounds. In 1806 Lambert exhibited himself in London, his announcements reading: "Exhibition—Mr. Daniel Lambert, of Leicester, the heaviest man that ever lived; who, at the age of thirty-six years, weighs upwards of fifty stone (fourteen pounds to the stone), or eighty-seven stone, four pounds London weight, which is ninety-one pounds more than the great Mr. Bright weighed. Mr. Lambert will accompany at his house, No. 53 Piccadilly, next Albany, nearly opposite St. James's Church, from eleven to five. Tickets of admission, one shilling each." Lambert died suddenly. He went to bed well at night, but expired the following morning. So great was his body that the coffin, which contained 112 feet of elm, had to be made square to fit. So heavy was the coffin that it had to be built on wheels and rolled to St. Martin's Churchyard. Of course, the remains could not be lowered into the grave in the customary manner, so an incline was built, which ran to the bottom. When the coffin was taken out of the house the walls had to be broken to permit its passage to the open. The "great Mr. Bright" mentioned in Lambert's exhibition announcement, was a grocer in Malden. Easy Bright came of a family known for the size of its members, who were all noted for their enormous appetites. Bright married at the age of 22, and had five children when he died at the age of 39, weighing 616 pounds. His coffin was three feet deep and was drawn to the cemetery by twelve men, and was let down into the grave by an engine, fixed up at the church for that purpose. After his death a vager was laid that five men, each twenty-one years of age, could he carried in his arms. Another famous fat man was John Love, a bookseller, at Weymouth. Love in his youth was so thin that his friends called in a physician, as they thought he was going into consumption. The physician advised nutritious foods. Love, as he became prosperous in his business, could indulge in these and soon grew remarkably fat. In fact, at one time he had a time at the age of forty, when he died, weighing 364 pounds.

The Death of Robert Burns.
Robert Burns, the famous Scottish poet, died on July 21, 1796, at Dumfries. The last months of his life were spent in sickness, which rendered him almost helpless. His wife, at the time had a very hard time struggling along with five children, all of them infants, and expecting a sixth. Burns left his family almost penniless and shortly after his death a subscription was taken up for them. The great poet was buried on July 25th with military honors from the town hall of Dumfries. Burns himself was a member of the Royal Dumfries Volunteers and the ex-wife among the chief mourners. The whole countryside followed the bier to the final resting place. The widow of Burns survived him a time equal to his own entire life—thirty-eight years. She died in the same room that he died in, March, 1834. The celebrity he gave her as "Bonnie Jean" rendered her an object of much local interest.

Little Stories of Big Men

Chauncey Olcott, the "Irish" Favorite
How many Irish hearts have not been a bit faster at the sight of Chauncey Olcott, that famous son of Erin, whose real name is John Chancellor, born in Buffalo, N.Y., fifty-seven years ago. Of course, to look at Chauncey, you wouldn't think he was that old. He looks as beautiful as ever and the girls all fall in love with him just at much as they did twenty years ago. Chauncey's love for things Irish naturally led him to the singing of sentimental Irish ballads, and what girl can resist good looks and an Irish song? It was in 1889 that Olcott made his first appearance as a ballad singer with a minstrel show. Two years later he joined another organization of the same kind. Then followed a period with the Denman Thompson company and after that was engaged in light opera in Philadelphia. After several years in England he returned to America to star in Irish dramas, in which he has made his greatest success. He is regarded as the leading Irish romantic singer in the country. He spends part of each year at his home in Fruitville, Cal., and the rest at his beautiful residence in Saratoga, N.Y.

White House
Mrs. T. J. Preston, formerly of the White House
Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland, widow of the late president of the United States, was born in Buffalo, N.Y., July 21, 1864. Her father, Charles Preston, was a law partner of Mr. Cleveland's. The latter became guardian of the daughter when Mr. Folson died. Her marriage to Grover Cleveland, when he was president of the United States, was one of the most notable events in the history of the White House. After his retirement from the presidency, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland made their home in Princeton, N.J., after her husband's death in 1908. Mrs. Cleveland continued to live there with her two daughters, and her son. In the spring of 1912 Mrs. Cleveland was married to Thomas J. Preston, professor of Archaeology, and history of arts at Welles College.

SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1917.

If it would not be held to be introducing treasonable partizan-ship, Parliament might make some inquiry as to the truth of the report that Canadian flour is selling for about four dollars per barrel less in England than is charged for it in Canada.

Winnipeg Telegram: "Conscription will do this for the retail merchant, it will prevent men going overseas who are needed at home." This is a variation in the argument. Usually the bill is represented as one to prevent men staying at home who are needed overseas. Conscription men in order to keep them from enlisting is something new.

From what the Russians have been doing to it, Hindenburg's east line is no more impregnable than his west one. As a maker of unbreakable "lines" the portly Hun is losing some of the reputation for generalship that he won two years ago with the assistance of pro-German traitors in Petrograd. The Russian revolution deprived him of allies without whom he has yet to show that he can fight, even on the defensive, in a way to justify the famous wooden statue erected by admiring friends to his supposed military genius.

If Parliament was qualified to pass the conscription bill without reference to the people it is the duty of the Government to enforce the bill without waiting until the elections are over. A referendum was refused on the ground that time would be lost in getting the needed reinforcements. To hold up the enforcement of the bill until an election is held would delay the getting of reinforcements longer than the taking of the referendum. If urgency forbade the taking of a referendum it equally forbids delay in putting conscription into effect for any other purpose.

Voluntary enlistment fell away during the first half of the month, only 2,166 men being enrolled. With the decision to adopt conscription there was a general relaxation of the effort to get volunteers, recruiting offices in a good many centres being actually closed up. Despite the lack of effort to get recruits, and even of the withdrawal at a good many places of the opportunity to enlist, men are, therefore, still coming forward voluntarily at the rate of 26,000 per year. That they are not doing so through fear of conscription is shown by the fact that enlistment was going on quite as rapidly before conscription was announced. In fact, excepting the first couple of weeks after the announcement, conscription seems to have checked rather than stimulated voluntary enlistment. The eligibles in great majority seemingly have decided to leave it with the Government to say whether their duty lies in Canada or in France. That, without any sort of urging, so many are still enrolling voluntarily shows that the spirit of sacrifice is by no means dead in Canada, and that a vigorous campaign—coupled with a strengthening of the war ministry—could have revived voluntary enlistment with results indefinitely large. To claim that men have to be conscripted because men could not be got to volunteer is not in accord with the facts.

The Russians are going one better than the critics who said that the Russian revolution would make itself felt in Austria. The revolutionaries are spreading not only their ideas, but themselves over the dual monarchy in a most commendable way.

In tub-thumping for the appearance of a leader for Western Liberals, the Winnipeg Free Press is making a noise that sounds very much like Sir Clifford Sifton trying to climb up the back stairs on to the political platform.

Alberta stockmen have taken a good share of the prizes at the Brandon fair. There is no better stock grown than some that is to be found on the farms and ranches of this province, and the flocks and herds of this superior quality are increasing yearly. Alberta is destined to be the leader among the Canadian provinces in the business of stock-raising, and it is shoving for first position at a rapid pace.

The high cost of living commissioner says the prices of several kinds of food now held in large quantities in cold storage warehouses "should come down forthwith." No doubt. They should never have gone up to their present level. But they did. And they will likely stay up until someone does more than say they "should" come down. The profiteers are not at all impressed by the fact of what they "should" do. If they were they would not be profiteers.

Papers which have been representing the "conscription of wealth" as a catch phrase coined for political purposes, or used by people who have no wealth to be conscripted, will be interested in a resolution passed by the directors of the United Farmers of Alberta. This resolution approves the conscription of men for military service and also declares the "Government put into effect a systematic, just and equitable scheme of conscription of the wealth of the whole country." This does not come from politicians, nor from people who have no wealth. It comes from the great land-owning class, the class that is making money out of war prices for all sorts of farm produce, the class which represents the real wealth in this province, and this class speaks through an organization formed not at all for political purposes, but simply to promote the interests of the farmers in conformity with the general interests of the State. It is not, therefore, to be set aside as the language of vote-hunters, nor as a form of words intended to shift public attention from the users to some other class. The farmers are inviting the Government to equalize the burden of war by conscripting their wealth and that of all other classes when men are being conscripted.

Mr. Hoover, head of the United States food administration department, is the greatest authority in the world on the question of how to make the food supply go round. As Canadians are now being urged to economize food, it may be useful to reproduce the regulations Mr. Hoover has promulgated for the guidance of the people of the United States in their similar effort:

"Save the Wheat—One wheatless meal a day. Use corn, oatmeal, rye, or barley bread and non-wheat breakfast foods. Order bread 24 hours in advance, so your baker will not bake beyond his needs. Cut the loaf on the table and only as required. Use stale bread for cooking, toast, etc. Eat less cake and pastry.
"Save the Meat—Beef, mutton, or pork not more than once daily. Use freely vegetables and fish. At the meat meal serve smaller portions, and stew instead of steaks. Make made-dishes of all left-overs. Do this and there will be meat enough for every one at a reasonable price.
"Save the Milk—The children must have milk. Use every drop. Use buttermilk and sour milk for cooking and making cottage cheese. Use less cream.
"Save the Fats—We are the world's greatest fat wasters. Fat is food. Butter is essential for the growth and health of children. Use butter on the table as usual, but not in cooking. Other fats are as good. Reduce use of fried foods. Soap contains fats. Do not waste it. Make your own washing soap out of the saved fats.
"Save the Sugar—Sugar is scarce. We use today three times as much per person as our allies. So there may be enough for all at reasonable prices. Use less candy and sweet drinks. Do not stint sugar in putting up fruit and jams. They will save butter.
"Save the Fuel—Coal comes from a distance and our railways are overburdened hauling war material. Help relieve them by burning fewer fires. Use wood when you can get it.
"Use the Perishable Foods—Fruits and vegetables we have in abundance. As a nation we eat too little green stuff. Double their use and improve your health. Store potatoes and other roots properly and they will keep. Begin now to can or dry all surplus garden products.
"Use Local Supplies—Patronize your local producer. Distance means money. Buy perishable food from the neighborhood nearest you and thus save transportation."

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner. To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the questioner. This information is wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Packing Eggs in Winter.
To The Bulletin:
Will you kindly tell me through "Answers" the best way to pack eggs for winter use?
"Water glass." Your druggist will give you complete instructions.

Papers To England.
To The Bulletin:
Are private persons allowed to send papers to soldiers in England? Certainly; but be sure to address the papers with the soldier's name, writing plainly his rank, number, and sending it in care of the Army Post Office, London. There has been talk of discontinuing this on account of the space taken up in ships being needed for more important merchandise.

Days and Dates.
To The Bulletin:
Can you tell me what day Nov. 20, 1889, came on; also August 4, 1898? The first on Wednesday; the second on Thursday.

A Real Optimist
"Pa, are women ever optimistic?"
"Oh, yes, my son. The woman who tries to convince her husband that you can take a vacation tour as cheaply as you can stay at home is an optimist."

His Chance
Boy (just in from school)—Ma, teacher told us today that it wasn't patriotic for people to hoard food. What do you think about it, ma?
Ma—I guess that teacher's right, my son.

Boy—Say, Ma, mayn't I have some of that pie you're saving for tomorrow, Ma?

Wouldn't Work Twice
In a Canadian camp somewhere in England a second George Washington has been found. He is in company with several others, had been granted four days' leave, and, as usual, wired for extension. In fact, it was so original that it has been framed, and now hangs in a prominent spot in the battalion orderly room. It ran as follows: "Nobody dead, nobody ill; still going strong, having a good time, and got plenty of money. Please grant extension."
And he got it!—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Too Literal
The Junior Sub (conjugating at the men's smoker)—"Now, are you quite sure the haversack's empty?"
His Assistant—"Absolutely, sir. The rabbit told you put in it's got away, sir."—London Sketch.

An Improvement
"This critic describes your new book as 'droll.'"
"I guess I must be improving. He alluded to my last book as 'utter rot.'"
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No Chance
"Going to get a new car this spring?"
"No. I tried to buy one, but the dealer said he couldn't possibly deliver it before next September. He told me I should have ordered a car last January if I wanted it now."
"Well, why didn't you?"
"How do you suppose I could know last January that I was going to have money enough to buy a new car this April?"

PEACE TERMS

What are we fighting for, you ask?
Sometimes I wonder how
Even the very gentlest heart
(Though may God bless all gentle hearts!)
Can ask that question now:

In Belgium there were gentle hearts
Knew neither hate nor fear.
Now many sleep till judgment day.
A troubled sleep till judgment day.
For bloody is their bier!

But there are blacker wars than these,
And harder beds than graves;
Why? Death's a friend in Belgium now:
The dead are free in Belgium now:
The living are all slaves.

As you and I sit talking here
The children in the street
Are playing games we used to play,
As gayly as we used to play:
I hear their running feet.

Do you suppose in Belgium now
That any children play?
There is a horror in their breaths,
A brooding fierceness in their breaths
That burns their youth away.

What are we fighting for, you ask?
What are our terms of peace?
Let him who turned the land to waste:
Let him who turned the seas to blood:
Let him who turned kind hearts to hate:
Ask them—upon his knees!
—James Weber Linn in the Chicago Herald.

Wild Land Tax.

To The Bulletin Legal Dept.:
If a man wants to evade the Wild Land Tax who has fenced a quarter section, will he be compelled to keep his stock on the quarter instead of running on the commons?
Subsection 16 of subsection 3 of the Wild Land Tax Act requires the stock to be pastured on the land for six months during the previous year, otherwise the land is liable for taxes.

Many Feel That Way

Two negroes were caught in a terrific thunderstorm in the south and took refuge in a barn, but before they could enter they were completely drenched.

The thunder crashed and pealed between flashes of lightning and blinding dashes of rain. One of the darkeys thought maybe a little strong language would ease his mind, but his companion remonstrated with him.
"Look heah, yo' Charles Richard—yo' quit yo' cussin'. Don't yo' know dat Gawd's got yo' completely in His power jest now?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What He Might Do

From the Calgary Herald:
It is surprising the amount of consideration Premier Borden is displaying on the subject of the Canadian soldiers' franchise. This consideration might well take the form of increased pay and pensions.

Proof That Action Needed

From the Regina Leader:
The fact that Canadian and American flour now sells in England for about four dollars a barrel less than on this side of the Atlantic ought to be about sufficient proof that it is time some drastic form of control of food prices in this country was enforced.

From the Calgary Herald:
It is surprising the amount of consideration Premier Borden is displaying on the subject of the Canadian soldiers' franchise. This consideration might well take the form of increased pay and pensions.

Mosquito Protection

From the Vancouver Sun:
We wonder if that Toronto lady would throw another fit if she saw some of our British Columbia girls in their war overalls, or as they call them, womenalls. They look like bare trousers but there is no ankle exposure because where the berries grow there also thrives the mosquito.

No Coalition

From the Calgary Herald:
There seems little probability of any kind of coalition government at Ottawa and the time for such a union has long since passed. The time for a coalition government was at the beginning of the war. Another, though less favorable time was when the government decided to send 500,000 men to the front. Another time, though much less favorable time, was before the government had decided upon conscription.

General Lack of Confidence

From the Saskatoon Phoenix:
At all events the Canadian national policy must continue to be to win the war and we will be prepared to make great sacrifices to achieve that result. Not only in Quebec, but throughout all Canada there is a lack of confidence in the Borden Government. An election whatever the result would clear the air, restore confidence and give us a new parliament which would combine within itself authority and dignity and prepare the way for the organization of a national government which would carry forward a policy worthy of the splendid work of our armies overseas, worthy of the name of Canada.

Too Much to Swallow

From the Calgary News-Telegram (Cons.):
No democratic people—especially of the kind in Western Canada—can have much confidence in any political party that will "swallow" a compelling service measure that conscripts men at $1.10 a day before first "cleaning up" a condition of affairs that enables patriotic plutocrats to make millions on bacon and other household necessities.

Russia Saved By a Jew.

From the Boston Herald:
If we read aright the signs of the last three months, the Russian revolution has given birth to a man of heroic mold. Though not yet out of the thirties, Kerensky, all aflame with the spirit of freedom, is leading Russia bravely and wisely. He is sacrificing himself for his people, rescuing them from the peril of anarchy to enjoy the reign of liberty. Little do we care, but much may we wonder what the old planners of pogroms will think of the saving of Russia by a Jew.

Here's a Question, Indeed.

From the Christian Science Monitor:
The question is often raised, Why is it that the restaurants nearly always mark prices up when foodstuffs advance, and seldom mark prices down when foodstuffs decline? It is doubtful if this can be answered, with satisfaction to the restaurant patron. And there is another question somewhat akin to it, namely, Why is it that, when the restaurant people mark up charges, they almost invariably cut down quantities? And yet another, Why should the restaurant people raise prices and cut down rations in order to preserve the level of their profits, when they might reduce their expenses by removing the flowers and the orchestra which, in many instances, their patrons often would like to, but cannot, eat?

Land For Soldiers.

From the Times:
There are disquieting tales from the Dominions about the discontent of soldiers who have been discharged as medically unfit for the army, but are able and anxious to settle on the land. These men have returned to their own countries to find no efficient machinery working to provide them with the new start in life to which they look forward. They were promised, when they enlisted that everything would be done for them when they returned. They have returned, but the war is not over, and there is no organization ready to put them on their feet again. All the states of the Empire, including the United Kingdom, are equally bound in this matter, and it is no use trying to separate the duty of one from that of another. Moreover, all walks in life are affected, and what we say today of land settlement applies equally to other forms of rehabilitation.

Russia Saved By a Jew.

Fairness to Quebec.

From Toronto Mail and Empire:

Will the German Upheaval Break the Kaiser's Yoke?

"The Imperial Government is now on the defensive at home, and is compelled to deal in concrete fashion with the growing dissatisfaction of the German people," is a significant fact that stands out clearly and distinctly in the opinion of the New York World. Nevertheless, in the minds of other cautious American editors, we are warned not to expect too much from the crisis in Berlin, for Germany is not Russia, nor is Wilhelm a Nicholas.

The Boston News Bureau, however, perceives that whereas in the early days of the war, "all was vaunted political unanimity in the Fatherland," to-day, "the vast change in the military setting has its counterpart in the political transformation. Disillusion has brought dissension; confidence has given way to criticism; lines of faction are deeper than ever, over grave issues of war aims and war conduct." Vorwaerts, the German Socialist organ, in a warning to the German Government, remarks, "let none be blind to the fact that at this time a certain unrest is spreading throughout the nation."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for July 21st, the leading article shows every angle of the insignificant developments that have been taking place in Berlin during the past few weeks, and the influence that they will exert upon the conduct of the war.

"The Digest" Stands Squarely for American Ideals

In these days of world-wide change and universal shattering of old traditions, when all existing systems of government are being tried as by fire and democracy finds itself everywhere at death-grip with absolutism in new and minister forms, it behooves every true American to hold fast to the ideals upon which this Republic was founded, that he may still continue to enjoy "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

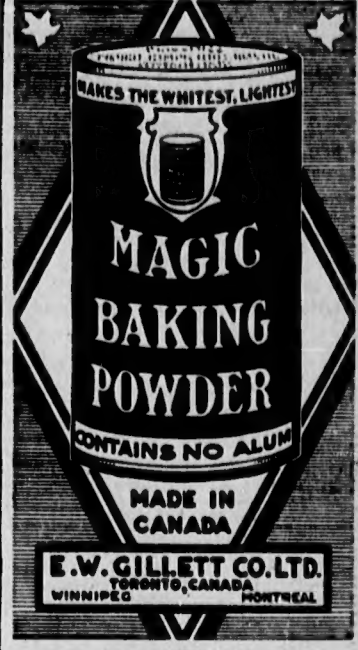

THE LITERARY DIGEST stands squarely for these great principles. It knows no party, no creed, no color. It fosters no racial antagonisms. It believes in impartial justice as between man and man and nation and nation. It is the organ of no class, but for all the people. It sets the facts before you without bias. It is essentially and fundamentally American.

The Soldiers of Democracy

From the London Daily Telegraph:
In the autumn of 1914 the flower of the British Expeditionary Force confronted the enemy in this now devastated countryside; they were hopelessly inferior in artillery. They wrote in their blood a glorious page in the world's history when they helped to save Calais from falling into the enemy's hands. Now the conditions have changed. A new Army has arisen, provided with ample munitions, and yesterday, after many months of weary waiting, the enemy, once "invincible," was thrown back on a terrain he never thought to cross except after the conclusion of a German peace. These men of our race who moved forward in the early light of the morning many of them to find a glorious death, represent the aroused spirit of democracy in its struggle against autocracy, and they have given the Germans preliminary notice that the war map is about to be recast for the salvation of civilization.

Fairness to Quebec.
From Toronto Mail and Empire:
"Let us be fair to Quebec. That Province would have given a far better account of itself in this war if it had had the benefit of conscription."

WHAT PRESS AGENTS SAY

In "Wild and Woolly," the newest Douglas Fairbanks picture, he is able to show his director, Harry Brown, at his best. In a picture which reaches its climax in a scene which is a masterpiece of the chase, the popular cinema star introduces a new method of introducing a production into the audience. Contrary to the general rule of mumbling words that has no immediate bearing on the action, the new Douglas has recently instituted the idea of rehearsing the scenario just as though it were being prepared for the speaking part. In producing this picture the various members of the cast spoke the lines of the action in a dramatic and convincing way. In the way of articulation, as they would for a stage production of the Belasco calibre. It is this method, says Mr. Fairbanks that in this way an actor fully realizes the relationship of his part to the development of the story, so that he can do his work with a great deal more feeling and appreciation, than if he were merely to speak the words of him from scene to scene.

MEN GO NORTH TO GREAT BEAR FOR TWO YEARS

George Cox and Cyril Fawcett Will Return to Shores of Northern Lake

Peace River, July 19.—That the "Grip of the North" is real and once the grip fastens on a man it will draw him back is proven by the case of George Cox and Cyril Fawcett, a young man of Calgary, came north on Tuesday's train. The couple were bound for a two years' stay on the shores of Great Bear Lake where they will trap during the winter months and prospect in the summer.

Mr. Cox, who with Cyril Fawcett, a young man of Calgary, came north on Tuesday's train. The couple were bound for a two years' stay on the shores of Great Bear Lake where they will trap during the winter months and prospect in the summer.

Mr. Cox, who with Cyril Fawcett, a young man of Calgary, came north on Tuesday's train. The couple were bound for a two years' stay on the shores of Great Bear Lake where they will trap during the winter months and prospect in the summer.

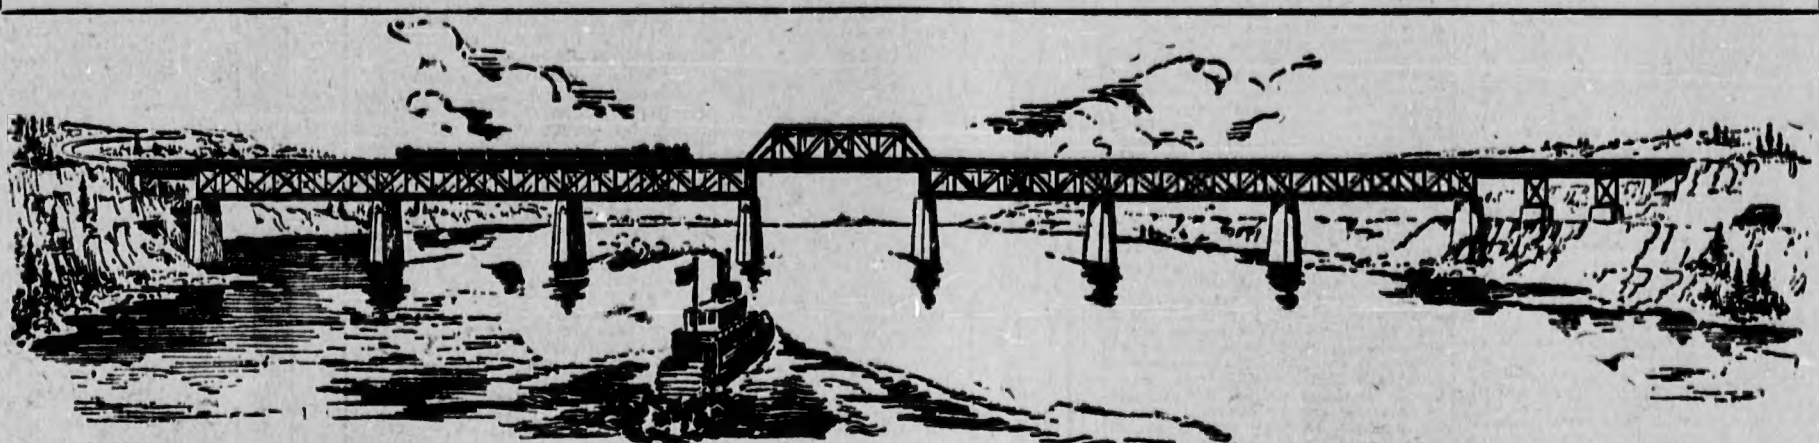

It will take steady going for the two men to reach the shores of Great Bear Lake before winter sets in, as early in September the first winter storms break up there and after that date it is dangerous to be out on this big inland sea. When storms are prevailing the water rolls in huge waves against the rock-bound shores, it is four hundred miles across this largest fresh water body on the North American continent and it has been visited by but few white men.

THE MILLION DOLLAR BRIDGE NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT PEACE RIVER

This is the way the million dollar bridge at Peace River will look when finished this fall. It is being built by the Central Canada Railway Co., and will carry the first rails to enter that immense territory north of the Peace. A big portion of Canada lies above this bridge, and its development in agriculture, mineral, oil, stock raising and fishing awaits the completion of the structure. Its opening to traffic will be of national importance to the people of Canada.

CATTLE PLUNGE OVER HIGH BANK AT PEACE RIVER

A. F. Maley Suffers Severe Loss When His Herd Takes Fright

Peace River, July 19.—Eleven of A. F. Maley's cattle went over the embankment a quarter of a mile above the pump house on Tuesday. Six were killed but the remainder are alright.

It is presumed that the cattle became crazed with flies or frightened at something and rushed over the high cut bank of the Hart River at that point.

Among the number were several purebred Herefords and a cow belonging to J. L. Laughy. The cattle were Manitoba cattle and not used to pasturing on hills.

Sporting Facts and Fancies

Well, Hans Wagner is still the same old Hans. He whacks the ball almost to pieces, but still the Pirates can't get ahead. There was a time when Wagner was the whole Pittsburgh team, but that day seems to have passed, too.

San Johnson is today umpiring a game between old Chicago players for the benefit of the Red Cross. Let's know how you like it, San. And, please, don't anybody throw any bottles.

Ferdie Schupp, the Giants' star pitcher, has certainly got the other National League teams scared to death. That's half of the game, Ferdie.

Outfielder Vick, formerly of the Memphis Club, is giving signs of becoming a fine player. The Yankees have gobbled him up and Memphis regrets his going.

Birmingham will lose its star pitcher in September. That young man is Carmen Hill, who has been doing remarkably good work for the southern city. So good, in fact, that the Pirates have decided to recall him, for Hill belongs to them.

Do you hear that loud roar? It is coming from the players of the American association who have heard with anguish that their salaries will be cut fifty per cent next season. There will be a lot of automobiles standing round idle next year.

Ship building ought to be a profitable occupation just now and Duster Mails, who has just taken up that work, will very likely soon be sporting a new automobile. He got the right after he retired from professional baseball recently, and is now in Seattle. He was only in the major leagues a short time, but managed to horn in on some world's series money.

Johnny Evers' Birthday

Accident has done many a good turn to many a man, but never more than it did to Johnny Evers, for it was by accident that he broke into professional baseball. He was born in Troy, N.Y., July 21, 1885. He is an ambidextrous player, or in plain English, he uses both hands in the game, besides his head. He batted left and threw right handed. He played his first professional game with Troy in 1903. He got into that game because a player failed to report, and, as he says himself, might still be working in a collar factory if it hadn't been for that accident. Then came the time when the Cubs were short a pitcher. Frank Sales heard that a corking good twirler could be had at Troy, so he began negotiations. An exhibition game was started so that Sales could see how the pitcher, whose name was Hardy, comforted himself. He did well and Sales offered $1,000. Sales finally decided to accept on condition that "that kid who played short" would be thrown in. That kid was Johnny Evers. The bargain was closed, to the great delight of the Troy club, which was glad indeed to get rid of "that pest" Evers. That's how Johnny broke into the big leagues. He has since taken part in five world's championship games and with Tinker and Chance formed one of the greatest infielders that was ever known. He is now holding forth with the Boston Nationals and today is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

Ward Miller's days are over. Fielder Jones has decided to let this outfielder go and he will have to try his luck elsewhere. Miller, incidentally, was the object of considerable discussion and quite a little condemnation when he jumped the Cubs for the St. Louis Reds.

Barney Dreyfus is holding on like grim death to Max Carey. Several National League clubs are after him tooth and nail but for the present it looks as though he would continue to operate with the Pirates.

Today in Pugilistic Annals
1844—Dan Donnelly beat Tom Oliver at Crayke Hurst, England, in twenty-six rounds. According to the standards of the day there was a huge amount of money bet on this match and it is estimated that half a million dollars changed hands.
1895—Sam Langford knocked out Joe Willis in two rounds at New York.

CHICKEN RECORD

Wm. Bruce, of Neuchatel, informs us that with twenty hens 246 chicks were hatched, and that 18 chicks died, leaving 230 live chicks, or an average of 11 1/2 chicks to each hen. A pretty fair increase and a fair percentage on his investment.—Alliance Times.

THE idea of a general strike as a protest against conscription had very little support among the delegates at the last meeting of the Trades and Labor council. Ald. Kinney entered a most emphatic protest against the idea, which, he said, would fail to have any weight whatever with the government so far as blocking conscription was concerned, and that quick steps would be taken to fill the places of really necessary men.

AT the Trades and Labor meeting Ald. Kinney also said that he had talked over the matter of co-operation between the Trades and Labor council and the Great War Veterans' association with a member of the soldiers' executive, who made the statement that the Veterans were very much in favor of the idea. However, it is now almost three weeks since the Veterans had a communication on the matter, but no answer has been received by the Trades and Labor council.

ALD. KINNEY, who is the official representative of the carpenters' organizations in the district, is just now busy getting matters in shape in the city. For a while the carpenters have not been very much in evidence, owing to the fact that many members of the unions enlisted while others left the city for the country or United States, where work was to be found. Now things are a little better in Edmonton, and like other unions, the matter of organization is again being taken up. For this purpose a meeting was held at the Trades and Labor hall on Friday night. There was an excellent attendance, and some useful business was transacted which should help the locals along.

COMING to railway matters, the Federated Trades committee are receiving all kinds of praise for their success in putting through the agreement with the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia railway at Edmonton. The agreement includes a six cents increase for all trades, including machinists, boiler-makers, linemen and car repairers. In addition there are clauses that make for the improvement of working conditions. The agreement was put through in a most amicable manner on both sides.

T. H. White, grand lodge deputy of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, is now in Edmonton, and will remain in the city over the week-end. He came to the city from Edson and is carrying out one of his organization trips in the west.

Not not since Mr. White was successful in negotiating the first agreement for the Railway Carmen on the G. T. P. section. Under the agreement the men get increases of from four to six cents, with better working conditions.

C. P. R. storemen, who have been on strike at Winnipeg go back to work with increases from four to six cents.

C. N. R. employees and their relatives and friends held their annual picnic today at Alberta Beach. Preparations have been made for a long day's amusement.

THE latest issue of the "Labor Gazette" has the following comment on the labor situation in Alberta: "At Medicine Hat the Alberta Foundry and Machine company was very active in the machine shop, but the foundry was closed down for a short time. Rolling mills and other metal working industries reported business very active. Flour mills were working night and day. Dairies reported business good, but they were unable to secure sufficient butter and cream to meet the demand. Business improved with soft drink establishments, and the brewery was more active. Laundries reported business about the same as in the previous month, but dyers and cleaners were very busy. Newspapers and job printing was fairly quiet, but bookbinding was rather active. Planing mills were well employed. Clay products and stoneware industries reported business somewhat improved, and the lined oil mills were very active. Several commercial buildings were under construction and building tradesmen were in demand. Weather conditions were unfavorable for farmers and farm help was rather hard to secure. Lethbridge reported agents in automobiles and tractors very busy and giving employment to a number of men on repair work. The flour mills, the brewery and creameries were active. The brickyard was again in operation, with a fair demand. The new filtration system was progressing though there was some delay owing to the iron work not being on hand. Coal mines, with the exception of one small mine, were idle owing to labor troubles. In building there was very little work on new buildings, but tradesmen were well employed on repairs. Farmers were very busy and seeding was about finished. Calgary reported iron works and locomotive shops busy. Flour mills were running double shifts and abattoirs and meat packing houses were increasing staffs. Other branches of the food group were quiet. Newspaper and job printing offices were fully employed and leather factories were active. Railway lines and repair shops were working steadily. Building was active in country districts and there was still a demand for men for lumber camps and mills. At Edmonton the iron works reported business brisk and a demand for skilled machinists. The Swift Canadian meat packing company was fairly busy and prepared to take on a few more hands. Newspaper establishments were very active, with considerable overtime; job printing was fair. There was an increase in the number of men employed in the civic works and telephone departments. There was still a demand for agricultural help at wages of $45 and $50 for experienced men.

CLAIMING that they have not received any increase in wages since 1906, the steam shovel men employed on the western railroads have asked that a conciliation board be appointed to deal with their case. The men employed on this same work in eastern Canada have received an increase of 30 per cent, but the men operating the shovels in the west are at present receiving the same amount as they did ten years ago. They now ask for an increase of 32 1/2 per cent. The union connected with this branch of the work are also asking for an increase. The steam shovel men held a conference with the railway representatives at Winnipeg recently and the fact that the western provinces were represented by Alex. Robertson, Alberta and British Columbia, J. R. Stewart, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

ACHIEVING such an early wind-up of the Toronto Street Railway-men's strike, with an all-round increase of 60 per hour, was something entirely satisfactory to the railway boys. Hitherto the Toronto maximum rate was 30c per hour. The organization made a demand for 40c, a complete tie-up followed, and in two days a settlement is reached with a maximum of 35c per hour. This is the same maximum rate, by the way, as the Winnipeg division got out of the recent arbitration.

BRITAIN'S WAR PURCHASE

LONDON, July 20.—The value of the purchases during the war, it is officially announced, has been over £700,000,000 including £200,000,000 on behalf of the allies. The present annual value of purchases is also £350,000,000, including about £100,000,000 for the allies.

"A man is as old as he feels." That saying was never truer than it is in the case of Hans Wagner, recently reinstated in the game and now playing with his old team, the Pittsburgh Pirates. Despite his forty-two years, Hans plays the game like a two-year-old and his entry should soon be noticed favorably in the standing of the Pittsburgh team. Hans simply couldn't stay out of the game. It is in his blood and a few months on the side lines was enough for Hans. Fans generally are pleased to see the veteran in the game once more and heartily approve of the step taken by the National Commission in reinstating him.

NEWS OF WEEKINFORMATION ON HOG CHOLERA;
CAUSED BY UNCOOKED GARBAGE;
PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE

Meat Contains Germs and Feeding of Raw Meat Causes Disease to Spread—Penalty of $200 For Infraction of Regulations Which Should Be Studied by Raisers of Swine—Best Cure is Kill the Hog and Prevent Spread.

Valuable information on hog cholera is supplied in the Bulletin No. 18 issued by the health of animals branch of the department of agriculture, Ottawa. The Bulletin is illustrated with pictures showing the characteristic attitude and appearance of pigs affected with the disease.

Prevention is better than cure, and from the statements made by the Veterinary Director General it would appear that the cure for hog cholera is to kill the hog.

Since the money from the swine raising industry forms such a large part of the general trade and business of the mixed farming industry of the districts round about the city and tributary towns this problem of hog cholera and its prevention is a pertinent one to many besides the farmers who raise swine.

There is no doubt in the mind of the authorities that hog cholera is caused by the feeding of garbage and especially the uncooked portions of pork.

Therefore the regulations say that "the feeding of swine upon garbage or refuse, either raw or cooked, obtained elsewhere than on the premises where fed, is prohibited unless special permission in writing is first obtained from the Veterinary Director General at Ottawa."

Another regulation says "Compensation will be withheld in the case of hogs fed on uncooked garbage or kitchen refuse, or any raw animal flesh or similar food likely to convey the infection of hog cholera or swine plague."

All raisers of swine would do well to procure a copy of these regulations because the penalty for infraction of these regulations, every person who violates any provisions of the act or regulations shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred dollars.

The following is the Bulletin published under the authority of the Veterinary Director General, of the health of animals branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa:

Hog Cholera.

"Hog cholera is a contagious disease of swine which does not appear to affect other species of animals, and is characterized by extreme contagiousness and a high death rate. It is known in every part of the world and is prevalent in the United States to an alarming extent, causing enormous losses. In Canada, the infection has been brought in some way or other, and it is to be feared that it may be introduced among hogs under such conditions, the disease spreads with great rapidity.

"The spread of the disease occurs whenever the germs from a diseased hog come in contact with the healthy one and this takes place in many different ways. Actual contact of the healthy and diseased hogs is a sure way to spread the disease, but it can be conveyed in many other ways.

"The diseased hog gives off the germs of the disease in his urine and manure, and thus distributes infectious matter throughout the pen, pasture, or the railway car in which he is going to market. Healthy hogs placed in such premises after the diseased ones have been removed will contract the disease.

"Another way infection is carried is upon the feet of men or animals, including birds. Curious neighbors, wishing to see what hog cholera looks like, may easily take the infection home to their own hogs on their boots or clothing. Wandering dogs may also act as carriers, and the common domestic pigeons may feed in an infected pen, and fly to neighboring farms carrying the infection on their feet.

"Another mode of infection has recently come to light and is responsible for many outbreaks of the disease in Canada. This is the practice of feeding hogs with scraps of pork, bacon, rind, etc., in the raw state. The explanation of this lies in the fact that in the United States many hogs are killed in the slaughter-house when in the early stages of hog cholera, and are killed, turned into pork and consumed for food without hindrance. This is possible because there is a lapse of time between the time when the hog becomes infected and the time when he shows symptoms of it. This is known as the period of incubation, and hogs killed during this period may, and often do, show no symptoms to the meat inspector that anything is wrong.

Meat Contains Germs
"The meat from such hogs contains the germs of the disease and such processes as salting, spicing, or smoking, do not destroy these germs. Cooking does destroy them, and as a quantity of United States pork is consumed in this country owners are cautioned not to feed kitchen refuse to hogs unless it has first been cooked.

"Infection may also be carried from farm to farm in the water of a stream flowing through an infected pasture or pig-pen.

Symptoms
The early symptoms are not characteristic of the disease and may resemble a definite opinion to be formed.

The hog loses his appetite, partly or altogether, is sluggish, disinclined to move, and if compelled to do so may cough. These signs, when occurring among hogs in the vicinity of an outbreak of hog cholera, should be viewed with suspicion and the nearest veterinary inspector should be notified at once.

"The sick hogs soon become thin and weak walking with a staggering gait, especially with the hind legs, but hogs may die in a few days, before they have had time to lose much flesh. "The skin frequently becomes red in patches, the color turning deeper and more purplish as the disease advances. These patches usually occur inside the legs, under the body, on the head and ears, but may be seen anywhere.

"The eyes discharge mucous secretion and the lids may be gummed together by it.
"The bowels are generally loose, and a profuse diarrhoea may occur, although in some cases there may be constipation.
"The sick hog generally goes off by himself, and is found lying in a quiet corner of his pen. If compelled to get up, he does it unwillingly, stands with his back arched and his belly drawn up, or moves in a weak, staggering manner and may fall over.
"A sick hog seldom shows all of the symptoms described above, and in many cases it requires an expert to decide what is the matter. Usually one or two of the symptoms are well marked, or redness of the skin and discharge from the eyes.

"The symptoms have been described at some length, so that the farmer may be on his guard if any of them are noticed, and call in the inspector before the infection has time to spread.
"There is a great difference in the severity of the disease in various outbreaks. Sometimes it is of a severe or virulent type and rapidly fatal. In other outbreaks the type is mild and recovery frequent. The latter type may be considered just as dangerous to the community as the former, as it is more difficult to detect, and the recovered hogs are apt to spread the disease far and wide before it is recognized.
"The duration of the disease is uncertain. A hog may die in a very few days, or may live for some weeks. Death does not always follow an attack of the disease, and a small number of hogs would survive an outbreak of the disease if it were thought wise to permit them to do so. Such hogs, however, are carriers of the disease. The germs exist in their blood, although producing no active effect. The hog is immune, but can give the disease to other hogs that are not immune. This is the reason it is bad policy to attempt to cure the disease. The more recoveries you get, the more chances of setting fresh outbreaks of the disease in motion. It is far better to stamp out the disease by killing all the diseased hogs and disinfecting the premises.

Examine After Death
It is often necessary to examine a dead hog to determine the nature of the disease, and the following appearances may be looked for: reddening of the skin; bloody red spots on the surface of any of the internal organs such as lungs, heart, bowels and stomach; a peculiar speckled appearance of the kidneys when the outer covering is stripped off, something like a turkey's egg; ulceration of the inner lining of the large intestine, especially near its junction with the small intestine; redness of the lymph glands; enlargement of the spleen; inflammation of the lungs (pneumonia). The examination should be made by an expert if possible.

When Hog Cholera is Suspected
"Notify the veterinary inspector without delay. The owner or person in charge is bound by law to do this and if he fails to do so, may lose his compensation for any animals slaughtered under the premises. It is inadvisable to allow a heavy fine for his neglect.
"The veterinary inspector, upon making sure of the existence of the disease, while all the hogs on the premises are slaughtered, he should destroy by burning them up completely, or else deeply burying them in the ground. The inspector should assess the value of the hogs and make sure the owner has not been guilty of any neglect or infraction of the law, and carries out the instructions of the inspector regarding the disinfection of the place, and compensation for his losses up to two-thirds of the unexpired value.
"The premises occupied by the diseased hogs are placed in quarantine until thoroughly cleaned and disinfected to the satisfaction of the inspector, and no fresh hogs are allowed on the premises for a period of at least three months after death. The inspector then issues the premises to make sure that the regulations have been complied with, and, if satisfied that such is the case, will recommend to the Minister of Agriculture the release of the premises from quarantine. The Minister is the only person authorized to grant this release, and he grants it on the recommendation of the inspector.
"The following are the official rules for the cleaning and disinfecting of premises after the outbreaks of hog cholera:
"After infected hogs have been slaughtered the carcasses should either be completely burned or buried at a depth of at least eight feet; if buried they should be covered to a depth of several inches with quick lime.
"In most cases it will be found safe and most profitable to remove and burn the floors, partitions and lining of pens previously occupied by infected hogs, as also any rails, loose boards or other lumber to which such hogs have had access.
"Pens, other buildings and fences with which affected hogs have been in contact should be washed with kerosene, and then with hot steam or boiling water before being coated with fresh lime wash, each gallon of which should contain a pound of carbolic acid, or other germicide of equal strength.
"The surface soil of pens and yards should be removed to a depth of at least six inches and well mixed with fresh lime, which should also be freely applied to the surface of the newly exposed soil. Ground so treated should receive over the lime a fresh coating of earth or gravel. Fields, orchards and gardens to which the diseased hogs have had access are to be plowed as soon as possible.
"Every precaution should be taken to prevent the conveyance of infection from one place to another by means of the clothing or shoes of persons who have been attending to or otherwise dealing with diseased hogs.
"Visitors should be discouraged during outbreaks of disease or until cleansing and disinfecting operations

Keep the Potatoes Green and Growing

(Experimental Farm Notes)

Many are growing potatoes in Canada this year, for the first time and as a result of the greatly increased number of growers the crop will probably be greatly increased. But to insure a good crop there must be an abundance of moisture in the soil and the tops must be protected from insects and disease.

Cultivation—The soil should be kept cultivated with the cultivator or hoe until the tops meet sufficiently to form a ground. As most of the tubers develop in the three or four inches of soil nearest the surface, and as the tubers will not develop well in dry soil, quite shallow cultivation is desirable at this season of the year. In soil which is dry there may be good development of tops, but there will be few tubers. The roots in such cases have gone down deep into the soil to obtain moisture, but the tuber-bearing stems, which are quite different from the root system, do not develop well. When the soil is loose, sandy loam, hilling is not necessary and may be injurious, as the soil dries out more than if left on the level. In heavy soils it is desirable to hill the potatoes as it will loosen the soil and the tubers will be shapelier than when the ground is left level. When there is sufficient rainfall and moisture in the soil, hilling is likely to give best results in all kinds of soil, as the soil will be looser and the tubers can push through it readily. As a great deal of the loss of potatoes is due to the cooler and usually moister weather of the latter part of summer, it is very important to keep the plants growing well until then. In one experiment it was shown that during the month of September there was an increase of 119 bushels of potatoes per acre.

Protection of Potato Tops From Insects—It is very important to prevent the tops of potatoes from being eaten by insects, particularly by the Colorado Potato Beetle. The "beetle" does not do much harm to the foliage, as a rule, and usually the plants are not sprayed to destroy them, although the fewer there are to lay eggs the less difficulty there will be in destroying the young ones. These begin to eat rapidly soon after hatching, and close watch should be kept so that the vines may be sprayed before much harm is done. Paris green kills more rapidly than arsenate of lead but does not adhere so well, and in rainy weather it is desirable to have something that will adhere to the leaves so that they will be protected until it stops raining and thus prevent the tops being eaten. At the Central Experimental Farm a mixture of Paris green and kerosene was used, and the proportion of 4 ounces Paris green, 1 1/2 pounds kerosene and 40 gallons of water in order to get the advantage of both poisons. It may be that is not convenient to get both poisons when either 12 ounces of Paris green or 8 pounds kerosene and 40 gallons of water could be used in smaller quantities, say 1 ounce Paris green to 2 gallons of kerosene or 1/4 ounce of lead or half that quantity of dry to 2 gallons of water. An experiment conducted for six years at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, showed that, on the average, where the tops were sprayed to kill "beetles" the yield was 18 1/2 bushels per acre, while when the tops were not sprayed and allowed to be eaten, the yield was only 9 1/2 bushels per acre. It is desirable not to stop with one spraying which usually does not kill all the bugs but to spray several times. It is necessary, so that as little foliage as possible is eaten.

Protection of the Potato Plants from Late Blight and Rot—In some years the crop of potatoes is much lessened by the Late Blight disease and when rot follows little of the crop may be left. It is therefore, very desirable to prevent the disease from spreading. This is done by keeping the plants covered with Bordeaux mixture from about the first week of July, or before there is any sign of the disease, until September. Sometimes the first application of Bordeaux mixture is made before the potato beetles are all killed when the poison for them may be left on the plants. While the Bordeaux mixture is well to be prepared. There was an average increase per year of 94 bushels of potatoes from spraying with Bordeaux mixture in three years.

The formula for Bordeaux mixture for Potatoes is 6 pounds copper sulphate or bluestone, 4 pounds freshly slaked lime to 40 gallons of water. While the bluestone will dissolve more quickly in hot water, if it is not convenient to get this, it may be suspended over night in a cotton bag in a wooden or earthen vessel containing four or five or more gallons of water. The mixture should be stirred with the copper sulphate solution should be strained through coarse sacking or a fine sieve. The copper sulphate solution is now poured into the mixture, and the slaked lime should be diluted in another barrel with enough water to make half a barrel of the mixture. Now pour the diluted lime mixture into the diluted copper sulphate solution and stir thoroughly, when it is ready for use. The concentrated lime mixture should be mixed with the concentrated copper sulphate solution, as, if this is done, an inferior mixture will result. If the barrels are kept covered so that there is no evaporation, slaked lime will not be needed. Materials may be kept in separate barrels throughout the season. It is important to have the quantities of lime and copper sulphate as recommended, but in some cases there is no danger of burning the foliage, let a drop of ferrocyanide of potassium solution (which can be obtained from a druggist) fall into the mixture when the latter turns reddish-brown, add more lime mixture until no change of color takes place.

DIVERSIFIED FARMER DOES NOT PUT ALL HIS EGGS IN ONE BASKET
BUT HATCHES PROSPERITY IN ALL

Mr. Varty, of Sulphur Springs, Paid For Farm by First Crop, and Sells it For More Than It Cost—Turned Half-cent a Pound Grain Into 15-cent Hogs.

With his eggs distributed in many baskets Mr. Varty seldom falls in one without making it up in another. Last year his wheat crop was badly ruined but he thrived with his own outfit and fed it to his own pigs and changed it from feed worth fifteen cents a hundred to pork worth fifteen dollars a hundred. When asked if he kept a record of the value of his operations he shook his head. When asked how he knew whether or not he made money out of his various departments he smiled and said that he did not. "The most diversified farmer of the Sulphur Springs district is Mr. James Varty. In his farming operations diversification is carried on almost to an extreme. He certainly believes in and practices the old adage of not putting all the eggs in one basket.

Made Money on the Deal
To a bunch of fifty young pigs the year before he fed part of his barley crop. When he had sold more pork than he had barley he was ready to bring and still had nearly a score of pigs and over half of his barley he naturally concluded he was making money on the deal and let it go at that. Again when he bought a quarter section, took off more wheat on the first crop than he had paid for the land and then sold the quarter at several hundred dollars an advance again concluded he had made money on the deal.

Nearly every farmer diversifies to a certain extent, that is, most of them keep chickens, cows, pigs, etc., for a small side line mainly for their own use, but very few of them make a specialized business of nearly every department of farming; but Mr. Varty does.

A list of the branches of farming that he successfully specializes in would include wheat farming, buying and selling farms, horse trading and dealing, cattle ranching, dairying, hog raising, sheep farming and poultry raising. Besides these he operates a threshing outfit, a feed chopping mill and a saw mill, and will undertake any kind of proposition from trading roosters to putting up a hundred tons of hay, or will buy any thing from a hay rack to a section of land.

Ten years ago Mr. Varty was a storekeeper, "somewhere in North Dakota." When the Great Trunk Railway was built to push its line of steel across a continent he was one of the men who helped to do the pushing. From a quarter-section homestead his holdings have grown until now he would like to look up his books to tell you just what he does have.

Started With Oxen
From four oxen and a hand-plow his power and implement outfit has stretched until he has four horses, two and two stationary engines, his cattle herd numbers well over one hundred and his flock of sheep over five hundred. His pig family, counting the sows and their young, numbers in the hundreds, and others, which are just pigs, run continually over the two hundred mark. Of the numbers of his poultry he could not even send a guess. He has a sheep or two, a few geese and chickens, he has turkeys, ducks, geese and pigeons.

His latest enthusiasm is in sheep. "You can't," he says, "put a dollar in to sheep without getting two dollars out." The sheep he bought before the war have so doubled in numbers and in value as to make any disputing of this impossible.

A detail story could be told of each separate department of his operations and each one would be an interesting and instructive farm story in itself. Most men find they have their hands full if they specialize on one thing. Mr. Varty would be lost if he didn't have a dozen. Most men find their time pretty well taken up attending to the varied details of a one department farm. Mr. Varty has time not only for his varied farm activities, but considerable community and public work as well.

Though he holds no public office he is always to be found in the van guard of any progressive movements and his influence and assistance is always sought and always obtained for any new improvements.

His success in his varied operations can be traced to two things: his tireless indefatigable energy and his ability to do any detail thing in connection with any phase of any kind of farming. He can run a winning mill or a saw engine, he can talk a cow or rope a steer, he can shoe a horse, build a barn, or which has not a dance a leg—and he can make money out of anything.

Oats From Edmonton District Again Receive Recognition For Fine Quality

Within the last few days a number of farmers in Western Canada have received medals and diplomas for their agricultural produce exhibits at the Edmonton Fair in 1916. The exhibits were made under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which itself had its own building and large display on the grounds, for which it was awarded a gold medal. The successful farmers and the medals awarded are as follows:

A. L. Fryberger, Gem, Alberta, gold medal for speltz.

P. C. Hansen, Pincher Creek, Alberta, gold medal for wheat.

Arthur Perry, Cardston, Alberta, gold medals for wheat, oats and barley and silver medal for grasses.

N. Tattinger, Claresholm, Alberta, gold medals for barley and wheat.

J. T. Worthington, Olds, Alberta, gold medal for wheat and silver medal for flax.

E. Barnes, Nemiskam, Alberta, silver medal for oats.

G. Hagen, Winterburn, Alberta, silver medal for oats.

T. Maynard, Deloraine, Manitoba, silver medal for wheat.

Joe R. Peterson, Raymond, Alberta, silver medal for Timothy.

Among the British Columbia exhibitors medals and diplomas were awarded to Sterling and Pitscairn of Kelowna, and Mrs. Jack McGregor, of Peachland.

Each of the exhibitors received diplomas with their medals. Although the distribution of medals, for unavoidable causes, is somewhat delayed, it comes at this time when the eyes of the world are turned upon the food producing activities of a victorious Canada of Western Canada's capabilities in that direction.

STRONG WEALTH CONSCRIPTION
RESOLUTION PASSED BY U.F.A.
AND FORWARDED TO OTTAWA

Exact Definition of the Demand is Given in the Clearly Worded Statement—Income Conscription and Utilization, Through Expropriation if Necessary, of Lands Held Out of Productive Use—Address on Subject Made to Next-of-Kin Association by James Weir, M.P.P.

"Resolved that we, the board of directors of the United Farmers of Alberta, after a creative meeting assembled, hereby affirm our belief in the principle of the selective conscription of men to carry on the war, and the conscription of wealth for the same purpose, and also pledge our support to the government in an effort to intelligently and prudently carry into effect the conscription of men for this purpose, but in connection with and at the same time as that effort is made we insist that the government put into effect a systematic, just and equitable scheme of conscription of the wealth of the whole country. It must be understood, however, that this scheme must embrace the conscription of the income wealth of all men and institutions of the dominion. The rate at which these incomes are assessed must be increased as the incomes increase until certain limitation is reached, after which the remainder of said incomes is to be conscripted.

Would Utilize Idle Land
"We also insist that in case of lands that have been acquired and held out of productive use, such lands are to be subject to equitable taxation, and in cases where lands are not subject to assessment and collectable taxation such lands are to be expropriated, with or without, at the direction of the government, a reasonable remuneration to cover original cost of said lands, and the title thereto to revert to the crown and become part of the public domain."

Such was the resolution, read out by James Weir, non-partisan member for Nanton, before a meeting of the Great War Next-of-Kin Association in Calgary a few days ago, and which he stated had been passed by the board of directors of the United Farmers of Alberta the day before.

No Confidence in Government
In speaking of the resolution Mr. Weir said, "We have no confidence in any government at Ottawa at the present time, but it is the only government we have and we must put up with it until we have a chance to get a better one, and when we are that chance we cannot help getting one some better anyway, the non-partisans will see to that. Of all the blunders this government has made since the war began, the worst has been their utterly callous, cynical, apathetic treatment of the families of the men and the men when they come back who went under to the British flag and the manhood and womanhood of Canada, and who when they come back are handed by the government a mere temporary palliative."

Getting Back C.P.R. Land
In the rather heated discussion which followed the address, the speaker was asked how they would go about getting back the land which the C.P.R. now hold. Mr. Weir said they were depending a great deal on the women, to returned veterans and the labor organizations to do that.

Patriotism and Charity
"If there ever was in the history of the world a blundering, foolish, unfair, unjust and villainous proposition it was the shifting of the responsibility of the patriotic fund to the care of a charity committee. Mr. Herbert Ames, who is the head of the big manufacturing concern of Ames, Holden and Company, a multi-millionaire, who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth and was reared in luxury—that is the man who was appointed to dole out the charity to this woman whose husbands and sons have gone to the front."

"Frankly speaking, it is the twenty-three men who they say control the finances of the country, and incidentally control the government as well, that say, 'Go on, you fellows, and fight for us, but do not touch our pocket books.'"

Soldiers' Pensions
In regard to soldiers' pensions, Mr. Weir said that at the meeting of the directors of the U.F.A. a committee had been appointed to confer with the returned veterans, or with the Next-of-Kin Association or with any other organization which it concerns, in order that they may go into the question of equal pensions.

"I am going to tell you one of the most astounding things I know of, and the speaker, 'I do not know whether it is true or not, but here it is. The other day a lady told me that the reason the women who were receiving patriotic funds were not allowed to go out to the country to work and still draw their patriotic allowance, was because they were told by the officers of the patriotic fund that the money must be spent in Canada.'"

It was pointed out in the meeting that quite recently this rule had been withdrawn and that women could not work and draw the money as well.

The argument which has been used by certain politicians about conscription of wealth taking the widows' savings was merely a political herring to draw the attention of the common people of the country from the big issue, namely the wealth of the plutocrats, the speaker declared. Every unit should set together and work with a common end in view, the amelioration of the conditions existing.

OCTOBER WHEAT
OPENED AT 2.29.
BUT FELL AWAYSome Cash Wheat Sold at 2.55 —
Oats Were in Keen
Demand

Winnipeg, July 20.—Winnipeg October wheat was again strong and a small quantity sold at 2.55, an advance of 6c over the close yesterday and 10c over the previous high quotation. Subsequent bids were considerably lower without transactions. There was a strong demand for cash wheat and some large lots were sold for as high as 2.55. The principal trading today was in oats, for which the recent keen demand continues. The demand for wheat seems to be to fill cargo space. Export companies and millers were the chief buyers. Milling houses are picking up mixed grades. Offerings were light. It was reported that the government agents had dropped out of the market. Winnipeg cash wheat closed at unchanged from yesterday. Winnipeg October wheat closed 3/4c higher than yesterday. Oats closed 3/4c higher for July 15c up for October and 1/4c higher for December. Barley closed unchanged from previous close. Flax closed 1/4c lower for July 15c up for October and unchanged for December. Cash oats closed 3/4c higher; barley 1/4c up and cash flax unchanged. Opening was at 2.29 this morning, 6c higher than yesterday's close and 10c below yesterday's highest quotation. Up to ten o'clock there was only one transaction recorded and there seemed to be no disposition to trade in the option. July oats opened 1/4c down at 75c; October 1/4c up at 65c to 65 1/2c; December 1/4c up at 65c to 65 1/2c. Subsequently bids showed a lower tendency. Barley was bid at 12c, 1/4c better than yesterday. Minneapolis July wheat opened at higher at 2.05.

CORN AT CHICAGO
SHOWS STRENGTH;
WHEAT 5C HIGHERMaterial Further Gains in Wheat and Corn, Shared By Oats

Chicago, July 20.—Opening prices of corn, which ranged from 14c to 14 1/2c, with September at 14 1/2c to 14 3/4c, and December at 14 1/2c to 14 3/4c, were followed by material further gains. Wheat, after opening 5c higher at 24 1/2c, the market scored a further uptick of 5c on a few small purchases. Oats shared the firmness of other grain. The close was firm at 24c to 24 1/2c net advance, with July at 24c and September at 24 1/2c.

GOLD TO ARABY OFFICE.
Vancouver, July 19.—Gold Bullion deposited at the Dominion assay office in Vancouver from January 1st until yesterday, amounted to $1,000,140.37, as compared with $983,157.54 during the corresponding period last year, a remarkable increase of $16,982.83. This is only the early part of the gold-producing period; in July in some districts they are only beginning the season and from now on will come the heaviest flow of gold. If the ratio of increased production is maintained, the end of the year will bring striking evidence that British Columbia and the Yukon have joined in the Empire-wide effort to increase the production of gold, so as to be able to extend to individuals or nations who demand gold before extending credit.

SPECULATORS
IN COLD CHICKEN
CAUGHT NAPPINGAmericans Who Caused High
Prices Lose Heavily When Things Go Wrong.

Chicago, July 20.—A falling market has caught speculators in dressed poultry in the United States with more than $1,000,000 pounds of the cold storage products on their hands, according to local dealers who blame a big crop, disappointing volume of exports and high prices for the condition. The result is, according to the dealers, that in a last effort to dispose of their stocks at a minimum loss frozen cold storage poultry, some of it two years old, is now being sold as fresh killed feed stock by some speculators. Most of the supplies are said to have been accumulated last fall at the highest prices in history in the belief that European countries would flood the market with orders. This has not been done.

Dealers here assert that the speculators by their methods were responsible for an increase last fall in prices of from three to five cents a pound on cold storage poultry.
